HONOR TO HAHNEMANN

Members of the American Institute of Homeopathy Celebrate.

Completion of the Monument to the Memory of the Founder of Their School the Cause for Rejoicing. Inception of the Project—How Funds Were Raised to Carry It Out

The hard work of the past eight years, ending in the completion of the Hahnemann monument, at a cost of $50,000, was enthusiastically celebrated last night by the members of the American Institute of Homeopathy. The memorial in Scott Circle to the illustrious German physician will be unveiled at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon.

The hall was crowded with members of the institute and their guests. Preceding the monument celebration, a short memorial service was given. The report of the necrologist, Dr. H. M. Smith, showed that twenty-nine members of the institute have died during the year. The address in their memory was made by Dr. H. M. Smith, of Chicago.

Dr. H. M. Smith, the treasurer of the monument fund, told the story of how the money for the monument has been raised. "Eight years ago we took the task in hand," he said, "and for a long time it dragged. We hoped, however, that with the closing months in which the money must be secured enthusiasm would spring up sufficient to raise the necessary amount. That hope has been fulfilled. We are now on the eve of dedicating to the world the noblest monument ever completed in the Nation's Capital. We may all feel common pride in the knowledge that it has met with the approval of Congress, Cabinet members, and the President himself, who join in declaring it the finest memorial in this city of beautiful bronzes. And in passing I may call your attention to the statue of the War Department, which under direction of Congress, supervised the laying of its foundation. One of the officials of the department with whom I have talked declared that never since he came into office had any task of this kind been carried forward with the intelligence and energy that have characterized the work of the homeopathic physicians having charge of this tribute.

"You will be interested in the work of the committee in raising the necessary funds. The first contribution that I received was $12 from a physician who was not even a member of the institute. Other contributions have come in from all over the country. The total amount of the fund is $11,388.25. We still must raise $46,611.75. To offset that we have assets worth, we believe, $3,000. There now remains but $8,388.25 to be collected. Dr. J. H. McLelland, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the monument committee, made a short address, in which he spoke of the successful termination of the committee's work. Both Dr. McLelland and Dr. Smith were tendered veritable ovations by the audience, which seemed to find difficulty in giving adequate expression to the gratitude felt by the institute toward them for carrying forward the collection of the fund.

Dr. William Todd Helmuth, the distinguished practitioner from New York, spoke feelingly in regard to the monument. In an eloquent address, he declared that the unveiling of the statue will mark an epoch in homeopathy. The formal recognition of Hahnemann's school by Congress in giving the site for the memorial, he said, preceges the time when Hahnemann's principles will be accepted in every branch of the Government hospital service. Dr. J. B. Gregg Custer, and Dr. George Shelton rounded the programme with two interesting addresses of their work of the past eight years. Dr. Custer, who is now in the hospital service, spoke of the work of the committee. The magnificent memorial standing on the east side of Scott Circle, between Massachusetts and Rhode Island Avenues, will be unveiled this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock. It holds a unique place, in that its artistic merits are vouched for by the National Sculpture Society, presided over by the distinguished J. Q. A. Ward. It is generally conceded that the memorial in design and dignity of execution has few equals in the world of modern bronzes.

The programme this afternoon will be opened with music by the Marine Band. Rev. B. D. Bellinger, D. D., will deliver the invocation. The monument, standing unveiled, will be presented to Dr. Walton as head of the American Institute of Homeopathy, by Dr. J. H. McLelland, head of the monument committee. As the draperies are removed, the ode of the occasion will be read by its author, Dr. William Todd Helmuth, of New York. Dr. Bellinger will then present the memorial to the United States, and it will be received by Colonel Bingham, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. The ceremony of the day will be made by Attorney General Griggs.

Miners Threaten to Strike. ALTONA, Pa., June 21.—The miners employed by the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal and Iron Company have served notice that they will strike on July 1 unless the company pays Altona scale prices. The company signed the scale here at March, but the miners claim that has been broken up to its agreement. About 15,000 miners are employed by the company.

LADIES CAN WEAR SHOES One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Paste. It is said to be the largest crocodile in captivity in this country. The largest one in captivity in the world is in the British Museum. It is ten feet in length and weighs 150 pounds. Zoologists are authority for the statement that in Madagascar the crocodiles grow thirty feet long, although none have ever been captured to prove this assertion.

For eleven days the crocodile was compelled to go without water, and when released in its pen at the zoo, made up for the lost time. It grew accustomed to its new quarters in a remarkably short time.

In the pens next to the new arrival is the big alligator, shipped from Palm Beach, Fla., a week ago, and the old veteran crocodile, who for years has reigned as the only saurian in the creek.

HACK RATES TOO LOW.

Report of the Superintendent of Police to the Commissioners.

Under date of June 1, D. W. Baker, attorney for the Hackmen's Association, wrote to the Commissioners complaining that the prices allowed in the District to the first twelve wards of the city, and not over 25 cents shall be charged for carrying each additional trunk or piece of baggage; but with these provisions drivers are required to obey the directions of the police at all points and other public locations.

Now Major Richard Sylvester, the Superintendent of Police, to whom the letter was referred, reports certain facts as to the charges allowed in other cities and recommends changes in the present regulations relative to the rates of hack hire. "I have looked into the subject of hack rates in some of the leading cities," he informs the Commissioners, "and find that the rates prevailing elsewhere are higher than those maintained here.

"For example, in Pittsburgh, Pa., the ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful to charge more than 50 cents for carrying a person with one trunk anywhere within the first twelve wards of the city, and not over 25 cents shall be charged for carrying each additional trunk or piece of baggage; but with these provisions drivers are required to obey the directions of the police at all points and other public locations.

"In Philadelphia, Pa., the legal fare for carrying one passenger is 75 cents a mile or $1.25 for two miles, and the same rate for two persons one mile. These rates being one trunk. Children between five and fourteen years may be charged one-half fare.

"In New York city the law permits a charge of 60 cents a mile or for any part thereof, and for each additional half mile or part thereof 25 cents, and for any fifteen-minute stop or fraction thereof 25 cents. One piece of baggage is permitted to be carried without extra charge.

"In Baltimore the rate is about the same as now prevails in this city for one horse cab. The hackmen are greatly dissatisfied with the present rates, and in a great measure by reason of the work and unattractive appearance of some of the vehicles offered for service. There are drivers who scarcely make sufficient to sustain themselves and horses. The hacks and cabs are not the necessity they were formerly on account of rapid railway transit, but they are employed for privacy, comfort, or because street cars are not convenient to the locations where people wish to go.

"During the hot season the absence of the floating population upon whom they must to a considerable extent depend, reduces their incomes. In many instances drivers must travel some distance to procure a passenger and after rendering service must return to the stand without compensation for the extra travel.

"Under certain conditions I would be willing to recommend that the rate be 50 cents for one trip of fifteen squares or less, for one or two persons, and 25 cents for each additional passenger; that the price of a passenger and after rendering service must return to the stand without compensation for the extra travel.

Now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful medicine in use for bowel complaints, both for children and adults. No family can afford to be without it. For sale by Henry Evans, wholesale and retail, and all druggists.
